Commercial Prospects of New Brunswick. The papers in the Province of New Brunspects of that Province are in a critical state, templated legislation of England and of the of by the Committee on one evening. United States. In the English Parliament, the change in the British tariff of duties, is likely to be unfavorable to the great staple exports of the Province, and the Colonial Duties Bill now un- to 40 miles round Ningpo. der consideration, it is thought, will seriously alfect the timber and deat trade, especially if the ble terms than at present.

The Courier remarks, that the present feeling in the United States adverse to the present maratime regulations between that country and inernus forces, and Major-General Nott was prethe British Colonies, should it result in the leg- paring to repulse them. interests of the Province.

That the picture may not be too dark, these papers close their articles with a reference to the Affghanistan. General SALE appears to be in natural resources of the Province, and urge the application of industry to their development.

The Chronicle mentions the fisheries as among the British. the natural advantages of the Province, and admits that they have been neglected, or pursued in so unprofitable a manner, that little or no benefit has resulted from them. And this too when the people of New Brunswick, through their government, have nearly the whole of the fish ing privilege in this quarter of the globe, and the markets of the whole world open to them. Still they have made nothing out of these advantages, while it is admitted that the Amerirans who obtain their fish against the treaty regulations of the two governments, and are subjected to great inconvenience and loss thereby yet control the markets and make a profit. Allusion is made by these papers to the negotintions of Eurd Ashburton, and the hope ex. pressed that the interests of the colonies will be kept strictly in view. *

The account given of the fisheries and the menner of conducting them on the part of British subjects, clearly shows that the legal advantage which they possess over the fishing ground, instead of being of real practical advantage to them, is merely a means of annoying our people who could improve them without injuring others. As some new regulations will probably be agreed upon, it seems highly, desirable that the subject of the fisheries should be considered, and the present arbitrary and unnecessary vexations method done away for one more in accordance with common justice; and better nuderstood in practice.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

[Correspondence of the Whig and Courier.]

House of Representatives, } Augusta, May 20, 1642. }

The report of the Committee on the Bounday question was made in the Senate this mornng by Mr Kavanaugh. One thousand copies of the report was ordered to be printed. The Committee recommend the appointment of four commissioners, and say nothing of limiting their powers. A report was made also, from the same committee instructing the commissioners to urge the general government to grant to Maine a full indemnity, for all her expenses, incurred in the Aroostook expedition. The report was made at the morning Session, and came up for consideration in the afternoon.

Mr. Leavitt, one of the Senators from the Eastern District said that he had an important amendment to propose and asked to have the until to-morrow, to give him time to prepare the ment was agreed to. Mr. Leavitt's amendment it is said is one which will probably elicit no lit-

> House of Representatives, ? Augusta, May 22, 1842.

The principal business done by the Legisla-30 to 1, of the resolves reported by the Commitare hereby, pledged for the payment and redemption of the stock hereafter to be issued did not offer the amendment which he gave notice of yesterday, but said, as he understood amendments embracing the principles of the one he had intended to offer would be submitted to the House he should not trouble the Senate with any. The one opposing vote was given I am told by Mr Leavitt.

The Senate refused to pass the order, passed vesterday by the House to instruct all the committees to report a reference to the next Legislature on all such subjects of a general charac- and upon what terms it shall have been obtainter or special nature as might be referred to them, but indefinitely postponed the same.

Mr Frye of Bethel, one of the Special Committee on the subject of the Governor's Message made a counter report, adverse to the appointing of Commissioners with unlimited nowers, and in opposition to the report of the Legislature to cede sell or exchange any territory of the State by its commissioners without the consent of the people. This report created no little sensation in the House and is indicative of opposition of considerable magnitude in that ing due, at the rate of six per cont per canualy branch to the appointment of Commissioners. The unanimity in which the resolves passed the Senate would seem to argue that there would be no serious opposition in the House, but I think there is good reason to expect their passage will be strongly contested. The resolves were sent down from the Senate and the House have assigned Monday next for their consideration.
